A Guide for Listeners & Viewers to the Complaints Process
& the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland
2014

Introduction

Any viewer or listener who is not satisfied about broadcasting content on an Irish broadcasting service, whether a programme or an advertisement/commercial communication, has a right to complain about it and have their complaint handled by the broadcaster in the first instance.

This document explains how the complaints procedure works, the role of the broadcasters and the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland (BAI) in adjudicating complaints.

Your right to complain is protected by the Broadcasting Act 2009. This Act is available on request from the offices of the BAI, 2 – 5 Warrington Place, Dublin 2 (01 644 1280) or on its website, www.bai.ie.

This document is a summary of the complaints process, including the powers and jurisdiction of the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland. It does not purport to be exhaustive and complainants are advised to study carefully the statutory provisions.

1. Radio & Television Complaint Procedures

1.1 Who Can Make a Complaint?

Any viewer or listener can make a complaint to the relevant broadcaster about a programme or advertisement/commercial communication broadcast on their service.

1.2 Which broadcasters are within the scope of the complaints process?

All commercial, community and public radio and television broadcasters, be they on a local, temporary, institutional, regional or national basis, licensed within the Republic of Ireland, are covered by the complaints handling process detailed in this document.

For the avoidance of doubt, a 'broadcaster' in this instance refers to the organisation holding the license to operate the broadcasting service rather than individual programme presenters, producers etc. employed by the broadcaster.

1.3 What can I complain about?

If you see or hear any broadcast which you believe infringes any of the following requirement, you can make a formal complaint to a broadcaster following the procedures detailed in their Code of Practice for Complaints Handling: -

a) Objectivity/Impartiality in News, Fairness, Objectivity & Impartiality in Current Affairs

All broadcast news must be presented and reported in an objective and impartial manner and without expression of the broadcasters' own views. Current affairs broadcasts, including matters of public controversy or debate, must be treated in a manner which is fair to all interests concerned and the broadcast must be presented in an objective and impartial manner, without any expression of the broadcasters' own views.

In this regard, there is a Code of Fairness, Objectivity and Impartiality in News and Current Affairs that has principles and rules that broadcasters must follow. A copy of this Code and related guidance notes is available on the BAI website, www.bai.ie or upon request by phoning or emailing the BAI (Ph: 01 6441200, email: complaints@bai.ie).

Complainants who believe that a news programme has not been objective or impartial or that a current affairs programme has not been fair, objective or impartial should refer to the rules of this Code when making a complaint to a broadcaster.

b) Law and Order

Every broadcaster must ensure that it does not broadcast anything which may reasonably be regarded as being likely to promote, or incite to, crime or as tending to undermine the authority of the State.

c) Harm & Offence

Every broadcaster must ensure that it does not broadcast anything that may reasonably be regarded as causing harm or undue offence. In this regard, there is a Code of Programme Standards that has principles and rules that broadcasters must follow. This Code details a range of factors that may be taken into account when determining whether undue offence and/or harm may be caused by programme material.

This Code is available on request from the offices of the BAI or on its website, www.bai.ie or upon request by phoning or emailing the BAI (Ph: 01 6441200, email: complaints@bai.ie). Complainants who believe that a programme has caused harm or undue offence should refer to the rules of this code when making a complaint to a broadcaster.

d) Privacy of an Individual

It is the duty of broadcasters to ensure in its programmes and in the means employed to make such programmes, the privacy of an individual is not unreasonably invaded. To complain under this category, the unwarranted invasion of privacy must concern the complainant directly and/or be a person nominated by such an individual.

e) Advertising, Teleshopping, Sponsorship, Product Placement & Commercial Communications

A commercial communication is a form of commercial message. Types of commercial communications include advertising, sponsorship, teleshopping and product placement but do not include public service announcements and charity appeals broadcast free of charge. A full definition of what constitutes a Commercial Communication is included in the General Commercial Communications Code.

Broadcasters must work within two established codes of standards and practice for commercial communications. These are the General Commercial Communications Code and the Children's Commercial Communications Code. Copies of both Codes and guidance notes are available on request from the offices of the BAI or on its website, www.bai.ie or upon request by phoning or emailing the BAI (Ph: 01 6441200, email: complaints@bai.ie).

1.4 Where do I direct my complaint?

The Broadcaster

The BAI has discretion, under section 48(3) of the Act, to refer a complaint in the first instance to the broadcaster for consideration. Therefore in general, the BAI expects that the broadcaster is the first stop for complaints.

The advantages of a broadcaster addressing your complaint first are:

- Some complaints may not be based on the Act and are best resolved by the broadcaster;
- The broadcaster has institutional knowledge which can allow for a speedy resolution of your complaint;
- Under section 47 of the Act the broadcaster has a statutory obligation to give due and adequate consideration to a complaint on grounds specified in section 48(1).

You should make your complaint in the manner outlined in the broadcaster's Code of Practice for Complaints Handling. This can be found in the complaints section of a broadcaster's website. For easy reference, a link to the relevant contact details for each broadcaster and to that part of their website that contains their Code of Practice for Complaints Handling is included in Appendix 1 below.

The BAI

We may address a complaint ahead of the broadcaster where the complaint deals with issues of privacy, anonymity and/or the complainant provides an acceptable reason(s) why the complaint should not be referred to the relevant broadcaster first.

The BAI also deals with complaint referrals i.e. where a broadcaster has already issued a response on a complaint or where a broadcaster has not issued a response within the relevant timeframe. For a referred complaint we will consider the complaint and may carry out an independent review of the complaint and the broadcaster's response or lack thereof.

We ask that you submit a referral complaint promptly. The BAI considers 14 days is a sufficient period within which to submit a referral complaint. If your referral occurs later than 14 days after a broadcaster's decision or lapse of a broadcaster's timeframe you must/ we ask that you provide an explanation for this delay.

We retain discretion to accept referred complaints received later than 14 days after the broadcaster's decision or their failure to respond. If we reasonably believe there has been an undue delay in the submission of a referral complaint we may reject the complaint. Each complaint will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Further information on the decision-making process of the BAI is set out in Appendix 4.

When directing complaints to the BAI, you should complete the form included at Appendix 2 and send it to:

Complaints Officer
Broadcasting Authority of Ireland
2 – 5 Warrington Place, Dublin 2
Phone: (01) 6441200
Fax: (01) 6441299 E-mail: complaints@bai.ie

1.5 How quickly should the complaint be made to a broadcaster?

There is a time limit: -

- (i) If the complaint relates to one broadcast, it must be sent to the broadcaster no later than thirty days after the date of the broadcast;
- (ii) If it relates to two or more unrelated broadcasts, it must be sent no later than thirty days after the date of the earlier or earliest broadcast;
- (iii) If it relates to two or more related broadcasts, of which at least two are made on different dates, it must be sent no later than thirty days after the later or latest of these broadcasts.

1.6 What will happen to your complaint to the broadcaster?

Once a complainant has submitted their complaint to the relevant broadcaster, the broadcaster should acknowledge receipt of your complaint.

The broadcaster should consider the content of your complaint and inform you of their decision. The broadcaster should also inform you of the manner in which it will seek to resolve it to your satisfaction in an agreed manner. The manner in which a complaint will be resolved will be decided by broadcasters on a case-by-case basis. This may entail an apology, correction, clarification and/or the offer of a rebuttal.

The BAI invites any member of the public or other interested parties to contact the BAI if you have any queries regarding the complaint handling process.

1.7 Section 48(5) Broadcasting Act 2009

This section of the Act permits an employee of the Broadcaster or an independent producer to make a request to the BAI to comment on a complaint. If the BAI considers the interest of the employee might be adversely affected, or the prospects of the independent producer to obtain future programming commissions from the broadcaster concerned may be impeded, as a result of the complaint, then he/she will be given the opportunity to comment.

It is expected that requests of this nature will be the exception since, in the normal course of events, broadcasters are expected to ensure that an employee or independent producer would be informed of the complaint and be provided with the opportunity to input into the response of the broadcaster to the BAI in respect of the complaint. Nevertheless, broadcasters are expected to apprise relevant parties of the provisions of section 48(5).

1.8 Right of Reply Scheme

In addition to the categories of complaints listed above in Section 1.3, a member of the public may request a Right of Reply from a broadcaster. A Right of Reply, as set out in the Broadcasting Act 2009 provides for the correction of incorrect facts or information that have been broadcast about a person, where the assertions of such incorrect facts or information may have impugned that person's honour or reputation.

The Broadcasting Act has given the BAI responsibility for the development of the Right of Reply Scheme and this Scheme has been developed by the BAI and can be viewed on the BAI's website, www.bai.ie

Further to this Scheme, broadcasters must publish the Right of Reply Scheme on their web sites and provide up-to-date details in relation to the person who deals with any requests for a Right of Reply.

As stated, a Right of Reply is about the correction of incorrect facts or information; it does not provide for the broadcast of an alternative or contrary opinion. In other words, a person may not be satisfied with the manner in which a broadcaster has relayed information about him/her, but a Right of Reply will not be granted unless the facts or information are factually incorrect such that their honour or reputation have been impugned. If the matter is one where the facts were correct, but not fairly presented, and was contained in a current affairs programme, you can make a complaint under fairness, objectivity and impartiality (See Section 1.3 above for more information).

Under the Scheme and only in certain circumstances, a member of the public may request the Compliance Committee of the BAI to review a decision of a broadcaster not to grant a Right of Reply. Information on the review process can be found in the Right of Reply Scheme. Interested parties seeking a review should complete the form included at Appendix 3.

1.9 Confidentiality

The BAI undertakes the complaint referral process and the operation of the Right of Reply Scheme in a confidential manner and asks that all parties in a complaint respect this confidentiality. Parties involved in a complaint are asked not to comment publicly on the complaint until it has been dealt with by the BAI.

Appendix 4

Complaint Referrals – Decision-making Process

Decision-making process – Complaints Referrals

The BAI's consideration of complaints submitted will be carried out in private and will be confidential. Upon receipt of your complaint/complaint referral, the BAI will take the following steps if the complaint/complaint referral is considered valid:-

- i. The BAI will contact the relevant broadcaster, and where relevant, will forward your complaint to the relevant broadcaster. The broadcaster may then decide whether to reply any time up to twenty-one days from the date of receiving the complaint. This time limit may be extended by the BAI if good and valid reasons are shown.
- ii. A copy of the answer by the Broadcaster, if any, will be sent to the complainant. If the reply is not to the satisfaction of the complainant, he/she has up to fourteen days thereafter to submit their reply to the BAI. The time limit may be extended by the BAI if good and valid reasons are shown.
- iii. An employee of the Broadcaster or an independent producer may request to comment on a complaint. If the BAI considers the interest of the employee might be adversely affected, or the prospects of the independent producer to obtain future programming commissions from the broadcaster concerned may be impeded, as a result of the complaint, then he/she will be given the opportunity to comment.
- iv. When the complaint is one in respect of an advertisement under Section 48(1)(d) of the Broadcasting Act, 2009, the BAI will afford the person responsible for submitting the advertisement an opportunity to make submissions in relation to the advertisement.
- v. If the complainant is not satisfied with the response, all written correspondence together with the relevant recording of the broadcast will be considered either by the BAI Executive Complaints Forum or the Compliance Committee of the BAI.
- vi. In the case of complaints considered by the Executive Complaints Forum, if, having considered all the relevant material, the Forum determines that the issues as raised in the complaint are not borne out by the broadcasting content, the complaint will be considered resolved.
- vii. If the Forum decides that there are complaint issues borne out by the broadcasting content which require further consideration, the complaint will be referred to the Compliance Committee for assessment.

- viii. In the case of the Compliance Committee, it considers all written material on file together with relevant broadcast material. The issues are discussed in a collegiate manner at a meeting of the Compliance Committee.
- ix. If the Compliance Committee agrees with the complaint, it will be 'upheld'.
- x. If the Compliance Committee disagrees, the complaint will be 'rejected'.

What happens when the BAI upholds a complaint?

- A copy of the decision will be sent to the complainant and the broadcaster before its publication. If the programme/advertisement is produced by a person other than the broadcaster, the BAI will also forward a copy of the decision to the relevant person.
- Summaries of all complaints are distributed to the media and posted to the BAI's website, unless it considers it inappropriate to do so.
- A complainant is requested to submit contact details. Such details submitted are for use by the BAI for internal purposes only and are not divulged to third parties. The information published includes the name of the complainant only.
- The Compliance Committee may request the broadcaster to publish particulars of the decision on a complaint in a manner previously agreed between the Compliance Committee and the broadcaster concerned.
- Where a programming complaint is upheld, in whole or in part, the broadcaster concerned will broadcast the Compliance Committee's decision, if the Compliance Committee believes it appropriate to do so. This could include the name of the person who made the complaint.
- This will be done at a time and manner suitably similar or close to the timing of the original broadcast which prompted the complaint. The only exception to this will be a situation where the Compliance Committee considers it inappropriate to broadcast the decision.
- The Compliance Committee does not have any power to award to any party, costs or expenses.
